QUESTION PRESENTED

Whether an order of partition may be entered without a survey and if so entered, is there created unmarketable title?

STATEMENT OF FACTS

Appellants and Respondents are joint tenants and owners of a parcel of real property in Sanpete County, State of Utah, containing 91.42 acres marked as description no. 36 on the attached Exhibit "A". Appellants are the separate owners of real property to the east and south of the above referred to 91.42 acres; marked as description's no. 38 and 39 on attached Exhibit "A". Respondents are the separate owners of real property to the north and east of said 91.42 acres, marked as description no. 40 on attached Exhibit "A".

The trial court appointed referees for a recommendation for partition or sale. The referees recommended that the 91.42 acres be partitioned into two parcels each containing 45.71 acres; one to the north, and one to the south. They recommended that the north 45.71 acre parcel be awarded to Respondents, and the south 45.71 acre parcel be awarded to Appellants.

They further recommended that Appellants have an easement for ingress and egress across Respondent's property. Said easement being over the northern part of Respondent's property marked Exhibit "A" attached and marked as description no. 30.

A survey was never taken and the 45.71 acre parcels were platted from the jointly owned 91.42 acre parcel as recorded in the office of the Sanpete County Recorder.

ARGUMENT

POINT I

THE DISTRICT COURT DID NOT ERROR BY ORDERING
A PARTITION WITHOUT A SURVEY.

Pursuant to Utah Code Annotated, Section 78-39-13, (1953 as amended), a survey in a partition action is not mandatory, but discretionary with the referees and the court.

Application of Utah Code Annotated, Section 78-39-13, (1953 as amended) has been given supporting the statute making a survey discretionary. Roper -vs- Bartholomew, 30 U.2d 386, 518 P.2d 683 (1974).

The failure to have the partitioned property surveyed which is only discretionary by statute, certainly does not advance a compelling reason, justifying setting aside the district court's judgment. Aurthur -vs- Chournos, 574 P.2d 723, (Utah 1978).

POINT II

THE PARTITION ORDER DOES NOT CREATE UN-MARKETABLE TITLE.

Prior to the partition, the parties owed jointly 91.42 acres, marked as description no. 36 on the attached Exhibit "A". Respondents were awarded the northern 45.71 acres because it was close to property Respondents' owned separately. The Appellants were awarded the southern 45.71 acre parcel because it was located close to property which Appellants separately owned.

The partition was made by mathematical calculations. Obviously, measurements can be taken to determine the boundaries of the above referred to property. Appellants attempt to advance the theory that the property is unmarketable because the boundaries cannot be plainly and visibly observed, of course, that simply is not true.

Property which has been partitioned is not any less marketable than it was when it was contained in a single parcel of 91.42 acres.

The district court has recorded its order in the Sanpete

County Recorder's Office, awarding to each party 45.71 acres, one-half of the original 91.42 acres. The partition in no way has effected the marketability of the property. There is no cloud on the property.

CONCLUSION

The judgment of the district court should be left intact and by so doing there will not result any unmarketability of title. The partition was fair and equitable given the separate ownership of property by the parties.

For these reasons it is respectfully requested that the judgment of the District Court in and for Sanpete County, State of Utah, be affirmed.

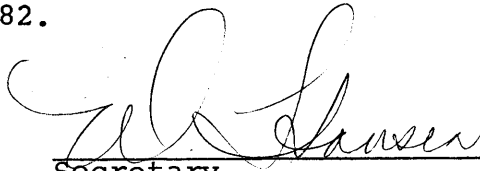

DATED this 15 day of March, 1982.

Respectfully submitted,

PAUL R. FRISCHKNECHT
Attorney for Plaintiffs-
Respondents
