REPLY BRIEF OF APPELLANT

ARGUMENT

Appellant Ball contends that the Court has power to grant Appellant's petition for expungement of his criminal record.

POINT I. APPELLANT/PETITIONER BALL'S RIGHTS TO AN EXPUNGEMENT VESTED WHEN HE COMPLETED ALL THE STATUTORY PREREQUISITES

On April 15, 1992, Appellant/Petitioner Kenneth Ball had a legal right to petition the court for an expungement. This right was no different than a right to sue for negligence, breach of contract, or any other legal remedy. The actual filing of a petition is not part of the substantive remedy. It is simply the procedural mechanism of enforcing an existing substantive right to expungement. This right should not be retroactively taken away from Petitioner Ball, any more that the legislature could retroactively take away a right to sue for negligence or breach of contract.

Petitioner Ball agrees with the State's position as set forth on page 7 of its brief that a party's rights vest when the party claiming the right is first entitled to institute a judicial proceeding for the enforcement of his rights. Payne v. Meyers, 743 P.2d 186, 189 (Utah 1987), quoting Am.Jur.2d Actions §88 (1962).

Applying that rule to this case, it is clear that Petitioner Kenneth Ball became entitled to an expungement of his criminal records as of April 15, 1992, the date the order was entered reducing his conviction to a third degree felony.

The applicable portions of the statute that was in place on April 15, 1992, §77-18-2, the date Mr. Ball's conviction was reduced to a third degree felony, sets forth the requirements for an expungement as follows:

(1) (a) A person convicted of any crime, except a capitol felony, first degree felony or second degree forcible felony as defined in subsection 76-2-403(3), within this state may petition the convicting court for an expungement and for sealing of his record in that court. The person shall file both the petition and a certificate issued by the Utah Bureau of Criminal Identification,....indicating that there is no record with the bureau of an expungement regarding the petitioner. ...

(c) The Court shall enter an order to seal all records in the petitioner's case in the custody of the court or in the custody of any other court, agency, or official if the court finds:

(i) the petitioner has not been convicted of a felony or of a misdemeanor for a period of seven years...

(ii) that no proceeding involving a crime is pending or being instituted against the petitioner; and

(iii) the petitioner has presented to the court a certificate issued by the bureau as described in Subsection (1)(a).

What are the substantive requirements of the statute? Upon a close review, the requirements that the petitioner must meet are: 1) that he not be convicted of a capitol, 1st, or 2nd degree felony; 2) that he not have been convicted of a felony or misdemeanor for seven years; 3) that there not be a pending criminal proceeding; and 4) that he not have previously received an expungement.

It is undisputed that Petitioner Kenneth Ball, as of April 15, 1993, the date the order was entered reducing his conviction to a third degree felony, 1) had not been convicted of a capitol, first, or second degree felony; 2) since his conviction 12 years ago, Mr. Ball has not been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor; 2) there was no pending criminal proceeding against him; and 4) he had not previously received an expungement. THE PETITIONER BALL MET ALL THE SUBSTANTIVE REQUIREMENTS OF UTAH LAW! It was in complying with the procedural requirements of the statute that the problems that give rise to this appeal were encountered.

The Court should not be mislead into believing, as the State argues, that the filing requirements are substantive and accordingly the Petitioner did not qualify for the expungement. Literally by its simplest definition, filing requirements are procedural. It is true that the Court, in order to grant the expungement must find all of the above requirements are met, but the court so finding is different from whether or not the requirements had been met. It is clear that the requirements had been met, the problem in the case at bar is that the court has not yet made the necessary findings.

POINT II TO DEPRIVE APPELLANT BALL OF AN EXPUNGEMENT IS A RETROACTIVE APPLICATION OF A STATUTE AND THE EQUIVALENT OF AN EX POST FACTO LAW

To deprive Petitioner Ball of a vested right based upon a change of the statute is the equivalent of an ex post facto law, which laws are prohibited by the United States Constitution, Article I §9[3], and the Utah Constitution, Article I, §18.

While expungement is arguably a civil remedy or right, its impact upon Mr. Ball, is equivalent to that of a crime being committed. By failing to allow the Petitioner the right to an expungement, the State of Utah has condemned Kenneth Ball to a penalty that lasts a lifetime. The application of a new expungement statute to a person who has already qualified for an expungement under the old law, constitutes a retroactive application of a statute to deprive the Petitioner of his substantive rights and must not be allowed by this court. As has been stated by our legislature, "No part of these revised statutes is retroactive, unless expressly so declared." §68-3-3, Utah Code Annotated, 1953 as amended.

The State argues that the petitioner's rights do not vest until the court actually makes the necessary findings. This is a red herring issue. The right to an expungement vested in the Petitioner on April 15, 1992; if the Petitioner were to commit a criminal offense, he may lose those rights, but that does not keep the right to an expungement from vesting in the Petitioner once he has complied with all substantive requirements.

CONCLUSION

The 1992 amendment to §77-18-2 is not applicable to Appellant, to find otherwise would violate §68-3-3 and Utah's prohibition against retroactive application of substantive laws. Appellant had begun the expungement process and possesses the necessary Eligibility Certificate. Appellant does not fall into the category or purpose of the legislature, and the statute is unconstitutional due to internal ambiguities and inconsistencies.

Appellant respectfully requests that the court grant his petition for expungement.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED this 20 day of September, 1993.

The sentence and judgment of imprisonment shall be for an indeterminate term of not less than the minimum and not to exceed the maximum term provided by law for the particular crime. Except as otherwise expressly provided by law, every sentence, regardless of its form or terms, which purports to be for a shorter or different period of time, shall be construed to be a sentence for the term between the minimum and maximum periods of time provided by law and shall continue until the maximum period has been reached unless sooner terminated or commuted by authority of the Board of Pardons.

77-18-7. Costs imposed on defendant — Restrictions.

Unless specifically authorized by statute, a defendant shall not be required to pay court costs in a criminal case either as a part of a sentence or as a condition of probation or dismissal.

If a defendant fails to pay the fine and thereafter the court finds that the defendant failed to make a good faith effort to pay the fine, the court may, after a hearing, order the execution of the suspended jail or prison sentence. If a defendant is sentenced to pay a fine covery of a penalty or forfeiture incurred, shall be affected by the repeal, but the proceedings may be conformed to the provisions of these revised statutes as far as consistent. 1953

68-2-10. "Heretofore" and "hereafter" defined.

The terms "heretofore" and "hereafter," as used in these revised statutes, have relation to the time when the same take effect. 1953

- 68-3-12. Rules of construction.

68-3-1. Common law adopted.

The common law of England so far as it is not repugnant to, or in conflict with, the constitution or laws of the United States, or the constitution or laws of this state, and so far only as it is consistent with and adapted to the natural and physical conditions of this state and the necessities of the people hereof, is hereby adopted, and shall be the rule of decision in all courts of this state. 1953

68-3-2. Statutes in derogation of common law liberally construed — Rules of equity prevail.

The rule of the common law that statutes in derogation thereof are to be strictly construed has no application to the statutes of this state. The statutes establish the laws of this state respecting the subjects to which they relate, and their provisions and all proceedings under them are to be liberally construed with a view to effect the objects of the statutes and to promote justice. Whenever there is any variance between the rules of equity and the rules of common law in reference to the same matter the rules of equity shall prevail. 1953

68-3-3. Retroactive effect.

No part of these revised statutes is retroactive, unless expressly so declared. 1953

68-3-4. Civil and criminal remedies not merged.

When the violation of a right admits of both a civil and criminal remedy, the right to prosecute the one is not merged in the other. 1953

68-3-5. Effect of repeal.

The repeal of a statute does not revive a statute any action or proceeding commenced under or by virtue of the statute repealed. 1953

68-3-6. Identical provisions deemed a continuation, not new enactment.

The provisions of any statute, so far as they are the same as those of any prior statute, shall be construed as a continuation of such provisions, and not as a new enactment. 1953

68-3-7. Time, how computed.

The time in which any act provided by law is to be done is computed by excluding the first day and including the last, unless the last is a holiday, and then it also is excluded. 1953

68-3-8. When a day appointed is a holiday.

Whenever any act of a secular nature, other than a work of necessity or mercy, is appointed by law or contract to be performed upon a particular day, which day falls upon a holiday, such act may be performed upon the next succeeding business day with the same effect as if it had been performed upon the day appointed. 1953

68-3-9. Seal, how affixed.

When the seal of a court or public officer is required by law to be affixed to any paper, the word "seal" includes an impression of such seal upon the paper alone, as well as upon wax or a wafer affixed thereto. In all other cases the word "seal" may include a scroll printed or written. 1953

68-3-10. Joint authority is authority to majority.

Words giving a joint authority to three or more public officers, or other persons, are to be construed as giving such authority to a majority of them, unless it is otherwise expressed in the act giving the authority. 1953

68-3-11. Rules of construction as to words and phrases.

Words and phrases are to be construed according to the context and the approved usage of the language; but technical words and phrases, and such others as have acquired a peculiar and appropriate meaning in law, or are defined by statute, are to be construed according to such peculiar and appropriate meaning or definition. 1953

68-3-12. Rules of construction.

(1) In the construction of these statutes, the following general rules shall be observed, unless such construction would be inconsistent with the manifest intent of the Legislature or repugnant to the context of the statute:

- (a) The singular number includes the plural, and the plural the singular.
- (b) Words used in one gender comprehend the other.
- (c) Words used in the present tense include the future.

(2) In the construction of these statutes, the following definitions shall be observed, unless the definition would be inconsistent with the manifest intent of the Legislature, or repugnant to the context of the statute:

- (a) "Adjudicative proceeding" means:
 - (i) all actions by a board, commission, department, officer, or other administrative unit of the state that determine the legal rights, duties, privileges, immunities, or
