REPLY TO APPELLE BRIEF

Mr Colemere's concluding remarks say it all. The last paragraph on page 23 sums it up very nicely.

Appellant and Appellee agree to the facts of why Appellant was denied employment and barred other government positions.

These false allegations given by Mr. Braun and Mrs. Gould did indeed cause Appellant denial of employment. Truthful statements given to prospective employers should be protected. False and knowingly giving false statements is wrong and should not be protected.

Had these allegations been truthful, then section 34-42-1 would apply. However, as shown convincingly to M.S.P.B., Homeland Security, and Workforce Services and hopefully to this appeal, these falsehoods barred Appellant from several government employment opportunities. These statements are, were, continue to be slander per se, and should be treated slander per se.

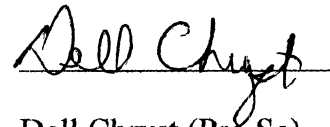

Can the Appellee show these allegations as truthful; the section 34-42-1 should apply. However, as shown numerous times, these allegations have proved false and as such, the section 34-42-1 has no claim. Not only are these allegations false, but they are slander per se with malice. From Mr. Braun's Scathing letters to false statements to Workforce Services to false allegations given by Mrs. Gould and Mr. Braun to the investigator for OPM, the pattern of malice towards Appellant is obvious. Even Mr. Colemere continues these same slander per se statements in his concluding remarks.

The allegations made by Appellee are false and therefore are slander per se. The court denied the right of the Appellant to be heard.

Appellant is willing to prove as many times as it takes, that these allegations are false and have always been false and will continue to be false. What Appellant needs is a fair court to hear the evidence and see that all of these allegations can and have been proven false.
